

New Deal Friends Worried by President's Distant Vacation Now

WASHINGTON — Roosevelt's departure South at this particular moment caused a lot of sub rosa concern in various high places: Basis for the concern, briefly, was this:

The 73rd Congress heaped on the head of one man more power than ever before given to a President of the United States. Upon the exercise of that power will depend the immediate future of the country.

With dozens of major bills just passed, with several important commissions about to function, some of Roosevelt's best friends felt he had chosen the wrong time for so distant a holiday.

Whether or not they are right, it remains a fact that the next month is going to be a crucial one in Washington. Here are some reasons why:

LABOR—Strikes and threats of strikes have been popping in every part of the country. The still unsettled steel strike, the Pacific Coast longshoremen's difficulties, the Milwaukee street railways walkout, have kept a constant stream of labor disputes knocking at Roosevelt's door. The Wagner Labor Dispute Bill, passed to settle these, has barely begun to function. It will miss the guiding hand of the man in the White House.

NRA—The nest of the Blue Eagle, as Roosevelt departed south, was messier than ever before in its hectic and frequently messy life. General Johnson, his trigger-finger always nervous, is more explosive than ever. Despite Johnson's expletives, Clarence Darrow's reports on Big Business and Little Business cannot be laughed off. Price-fixing remains a sore spot. A hundred complicated questions are crowding in on a man already discouraged and weary.

HOUSING—The big drive to take up the mid-summer slack, to help reduce Federal Relief rolls through the gigantic slum-clearance, housing program is just being launched. Upon it depends construction prosperity next year.

LOANS TO INDUSTRY—The R. F. C. has just received from Congress the right to put the government further into business by lending money to industry. This new start on the old, handout game has just begun.

TARIFF—The President has just received unprecedented powers to negotiate trade treaties changing tariff rates without ratification by Congress. A score of nations and several hundred lobbyists have been hounding the State Department to begin.

STOCK MARKET—For the first time in history the Government will attempt to make Wall Street walk the straight and narrow. The commission faced with this task is still in embryo.

Communications—Another commission to control telephones, telegrams and radio also for the first time in history, has not even rented spittoons and coat hangers.

What accentuates Roosevelt's absence is the fact that his is the most centralized Administration in years. Some of his cabinet officers will scarcely hire an office boy without trotting over to ask the man in the White House.

So the summer may be hot, hectic and at times delirious. The component parts of the official family will step on each other's toes. Fireworks should be brilliant feuds and bitter.

National Theatre

No matter what happens this fall, it looks as if Eddie Dowling, close comedian-friend of the President, would be in the very thick of the show business.

Eddie has collaborated with Vincent Astor, New York New Dealer, to take over his St. James Theatre. Meanwhile he is conspiring with Rhode Island politicians to get into the greatest show on earth — the United States Senate. And last week he was here in the Capital talking with the Soviet Ambassador and with Harry Hopkins and Jesse Jones, on national backing for the theatre.

The United States is one of few important countries without a National Theatre. Soviet Russia has made the greatest advance. It has 26 theaters operating at once in Moscow.

Eddie proposed similar help for the United States. He is awaiting trial.

FARFIELD-CO. MAN TO FINISH AAA PROGRAM

Robert Blosser of Bremen, University Graduate, to Supervise Program STARTS AT ONCE

More Than $500,000 to be Paid County Farmers

Robert Blosser of Bremen, Fairfield-co., has been named temporary county agriculture agent for Pickaway-co., it was announced today.

He will assist in the completion of the corn-hog adjustment program which was left unfinished by the resignation of Guy Dowdy, who is now connected with the Agriculture Adjustment Administration in Columbus.

A graduate of the Class of 1931 at Ohio State University, Mr. Blosser comes here highly recommended. For the past five months he has been working in the office of Fairfield-co. agriculture agent H. F. Thayer, assisting in the corn-hog and wheat adjustment programs. He has also been leader of the Bremen Livestock 4-H club and lecturer of the Rushcreek Grange during the past year.

H. C. Ramsower, chairman of the Ohio corn-hog production control committee, announced today that cash payments under the corn-hog program will be paid exactly in the manner and in the amounts named in the contracts signed by farmers in Pickaway-co.

This statement refutes the current rumor in some localities that "the government will settle for 40 cents on the dollar."

The contracts, it was explained, call for three separate benefit payments to each producer who signs and fulfills his contract. The first is made as soon as the contracts are received and approved by the secretary of agriculture. Such payments are now being distributed to farmers in counties where the program is furthest advanced.

The total of the first payments in Pickaway-co. will be $280,823. The second payment will be made in November or December, and the third in February, 1935. Total of the three payments to local farmers will exceed $533,583. Payments to Ohio farmers will exceed $17,000,000.

MARIE DRESSLER CLINGING TO LIFE

"Grand Old Trouper" Takes Solid Food For First Time Yesterday.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 3.—The dawn of another day saw Marie Dressler, screen idol of thousands of men and women in all walks of life, continuing to amaze her physicians by the remarkable tenacity with which she holds to life and even gains in strength.

Shortly after midnight Dr. F. R. Nuzum issued a bulletin in which he described the condition of the woman who won fame on the stage and then came back to even greater triumph on the screen, as "unchanged."

Miss Dressler's temperature at that time was recorded as 100.6 degrees, the same as it had been during practically all of yesterday.

The greatest step forward in Miss Dressler's battle to cheat death was the fact that yesterday, for the first time in more than 10 days, she was able to take solid nourishment and retain it.

Woman Electrocuted While Ironing at Home

GLOUSTER, O., July 3.—Mrs. Fred Householder, 32, was electrocuted last night while ironing overalls for her husband in the basement of their home. Her feet were wet from sprinkling the lawn a few moments before and when the short circuit occurred she was grounded so that the electricity killed her.

COUNTY 'DADS' THROW RELIEF BACK TO STATE

"Next Move Up to Relief Commission," Hay Says Monday

AID STOPPED

No Action on Petitions Presented Week Ago

Pickaway-co's relief controversy was thrown back into the lap of the state relief commission today, with the announcement by the county commissioners that "any further action in the matter would have to be taken by the commission."

The commissioners, Monday, failed to take any action on the petitions presented a week ago by Edward Peters, N. Court-st., requesting them "to cooperate with the state and federal governments so that aid would continue to come to Pickaway-co."

HAVE COMPLIED? "We have complied with every order of the state relief commission," John W. Hay, president of the board, said. "We were told that the funds which we were charged with spending illegally had to be returned to the proper fund. This has been done. We were also told that relief bills would have to be approved by the relief commission and that we would have to follow the rules and regulations of the FERA and state relief commission. We are willing to do this," he declared.

Hay pointed out, however, that the county relief director, appointed by the commission, to administer county outside relief activities. Outside relief includes all relief outside of the county infirmary.

FOOD TO CONTINUE Adjutant General Henderson said in Columbus yesterday that the county might continue to participate in the surplus food distribution, although the commissioners would have to pay for the transportation of the food from Columbus.

It is believed that the commissioners would go to Columbus and confer with Major E. O. Braught, executive director of the commission, if they received an official invitation. In a statement to the Herald last week, Braught issued an invitation for the commissioners to meet with the relief commission, but they refused to recognize it as official.

In the meantime, the commissioners will be forced to handle all relief activities and finish the works projects started under the FERA program.

Police Court Mildred Lagore, S. Court-st., who was arrested Sunday evening at the John Moore restaurant, Ohio and Court-sts., on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct was fined $25 and costs and committed to the county jail until fine and costs are paid by Mayor W. B. Cady Monday evening.

SENT TO JAIL Miss Lenora Dawson, E. Mill-st., pleaded not guilty to a charge of menacing threats before Mayor Cady Monday and was bound over to the grand jury under $300 bond. She was arranging to furnish bond.

Mrs. Dawson was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Ralph Lutz, E. Mill-st.

PAYS $25 FINE Arthur Zimmerman of Columbus, pleaded guilty to a charge of fishing with a rod and reel without a license before Justice of Peace H. O. Eveland Tuesday and was fined $25 and costs.

He paid the fine and costs and was released. Game Protector Clarence Francis arrested him.

GUYNICKERSON CRITICAL Glenn I. Nickerson, S. Court-st., was called to Tampa, Fla., Monday evening by the critical illness of his brother, Guy Nickerson.

CINCINNATI—After having been divorced 20 years ago, Mrs. Bertha Whitaker, 72, and Leroy Whitaker, 72, were re-married here. Efforts of their five children, they said, brought them together again.

INDEPENDENCE DAY (EDITORIAL)

On the fourth day of every July, the American people in a more or less fervent manner, celebrate the birthday of a nation. It is a day of memories and should be. Our fathers gave us a priceless form of government, and the long colonial striving against usurpation and tyranny helped our Jeffersons, John Adamses and Lees and others to formulate the principles of pure republicanism which we boast of possessing today.

Let the eagle scream! Let oratory be broadcasted over the land! Let the red rockets glare and the bursting cracker boom! We have grown on and older until today we are 158 years old, a glorious union, one and indivisible.

Only once in the history of this union have we had revolution. It was not an oppressed people revolting against dictatorship or a disabled government, but sectionalism exerting its so-called rights and privileges. That revolt was stamped out on the insistence of President Lincoln, now revered as one of the greatest Americans of all time.

We should rejoice that we are able to celebrate Independence Day every day of our lives. Our desires to talk are not silenced by a uniformed storm-trooper in the background. We still enjoy the right to worship as we wish and the other eight guarantees in the Bill of Rights of our constitution.

Observation of Independence Day in America is something satisfying—an inward feeling that we do have "a government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

And the most satisfying feature of this 158-year-old government is that even though it allows every one of its citizens to be independent, when the call for action comes, we push forward in a united front.

We are glad that we can truthfully say that we're celebrating Independence Day tomorrow.

SHOWERS MAY MAR FOURTH

No Celebration of Any Kind Planned In City For Wednesday.

ASHVILLE SCENE

Autoists Are Asked To Use Precautions.

With the holiday spirit undampened by predictions of probable thundershowers tomorrow, Ohio prepared today to celebrate, with community celebrations, athletic events, and outings, another Independence Day.

No celebration of any kind was planned in Circleville, but thousands are expected to throng to Ashville for that village's sixth annual community day.

Chillicothe, Lancaster, Washington C. H., and other neighboring cities were also planning extensive celebrations.

Extensive plans have been made in virtually every community in the state for holiday celebrations. With temperatures today ranging about seven or eight degrees higher than yesterday, the United States weather bureau at Columbus issued a forecast of unsettled weather tomorrow. Showers and cooler weather are predicted for tonight in the north portion of the state, with probable showers and temperatures slightly below the 90-degree mark generally in the state tomorrow.

Hoping to forestall the usual high holiday accident toll in the state, Ohio officials urged all residents of the state to exercise unusual precautions in their holiday merry-making.

Highway Director O. W. Merrell and Col. Lynn Black, superintendent of the state highway patrol, called upon all drivers in the state to make the "crowded highways safe" tomorrow.

CLEVELAND—It is an old and favorite pastime of city governments to pass out "keys to the city" to famous visitors like ocean-hopping aviators, actors and actresses, but it is also an expensive one. It cost the city government of Cleveland, for instance, exactly $130 for every key given away by the mayor.

John Moon of Chillicothe R. F. D. Is Burned In Eyes By Flying Lye.

John Moon, 46, of Chillicothe R. F. D., got a job at the Sears and Nichols factory, S. Washington-st., today, but his labors were soon cut short by a painful accident.

While cleaning the floors in the plant, some lye, which he was using, flew up in his face, burning both eyes. His face was also burned.

He was taken to Berger Hospital, where his injuries were treated by Dr. G. W. Heffner. The accident occurred about 8:45 a. m., about two hours after Moon had begun his first day's work.

DOCTORS WARN OF FIRE BURNS

Several Local Youths Receive Burns In Fireworks Explosions; Bowsher Hurt.

With several pre-Fourth of July accidents already reported, Circleville physicians warned today that any wounds suffered through the explosion of fireworks should be dressed immediately to prevent infection and blood poisoning.

James Bowsher, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowsher, S. Scioto-st., suffered serious burns on both hands when a roman rocket exploded near him Monday. Dr. Lloyd Jones treated his injuries.

Two York-st. youths were also injured when fireworks exploded in their hands. The lads were Charles Ankrom and a boy named Brown. Dr. E. R. Austin treated their burns.

Several other minor cases were also reported to local doctors, but names of the persons could not be learned.

Mayor W. B. Cady warned today that any persons who use fireworks carelessly are subject to a fine of $50 under provisions of a city ordinance. "We do not oppose the use of fireworks, but when exploded indiscriminately and without regard to the safety of other persons, the offenders will be prosecuted," he said.

Oils-Mecca Tangle; Chows Win Monday's Game

One of the important games of the second half is scheduled for the Southern Ohio Electric field tonight when the Circleville Oils and Mecca team tangle. The latter outfit was runner-up to the Contender Corporation in the first half, so an interesting game is expected.

Last night, the Purina Chows defeated the McClarren Meats 7 to 3, with Pug Fowler pitching a good game for the former.

The lineups included—Chows: Heiskell, cf; Dumm, 2b; Roby, ss; Greeno, 3b; Zelmer, 1b; Fowler, p; Bliss, c; Accord, lf, and Robinson, rf.

Meats—Smalley, ss; Miller, 1b; Denney, 3b; Henn, lf; L. Ferguson, cf; Hill, 2b; Buskirk, p; D. Ferguson, rf, and Valentine, c.

It was announced today that the Wednesday game between the Circle City Dairy and Given Oils will be played at the regular time in the evening instead of in the afternoon.

Eshelman Feeds have two important games to play this week, on Thursday evening they tangle with the Contender Corporation, first half winner, and on Friday they play off last Thursday's tie game with the Given Oils. Both are expected to be interesting contests.

Eddie Callihan will be forced to pitch two gruelling games in succession and this is no fun for any pitcher.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

WHAT OF MONEY?

THERE IS QUITE A LOT of talk about what will be done with the money left at the end of the year from the collections at the ball games—it was thought for a while that bleachers could be constructed even during this season with the cash, but there hasn't been enough of it.

According to a rule adopted by the managers of the teams before the season started the money would be divided among the four teams winning in an elimination series at the end of the second half.

It is believed now that a majority of managers would vote to rescind that ruling and put all the money into a purse, which could be augmented by contributions, for a big banquet for all players, backers, managers and umpires at the close of the season—This was done in 1929 at the Lutheran parish house and the meeting was a great success—it is possible such action will be taken although it can be done only on a vote of all the managers.

TALKING CAGE LEAGUE

IT'S A LONG WAY OFF BUT there is already talk about a Circleville basketball league this winter with games to be played in the Circleville Athletic club gymnasium—it is believed several of the industrial plants and business houses now supporting recreational ball teams would be interested in such a move—it would be a big help to sports activities in the city and should prove beneficial to the Athletic club if operated in the right manner—it is somewhat doubtful whether the high school will seek the Club gym since last year was not a successful one either financially or in any other way.

dren. They were mystified, unable to name or diagnose the malady. That it was some form of paralysis was admitted but the cause still remains locked up in the twisted and suffering bodies of the brothers.

Glen and John have never gone to school. The disease struck them down before that time, as it did their seven kin who never passed the forbidden age of 18 years.

The boys are now 16 and 17. They know that their days are numbered but they never complain. Nor does their mother, Mrs. George Dietrich.

"But I wish I knew what is wrong with my boys," she said. "Samuel died two years ago. Now Glen and John will die soon. All I wish for now is that they be happy before they go."

"Pictures, post cards and letters please them more than anything else. They never get tired of looking at picture postcards. That is the only life, the only chance they have to see, in the outside world."

Ancient Secret Revealed

Why Christian Serbs in the Petch district of Yugoslavia have for centuries placed lighted candles in the cemeteries of an old Moslem mosque, known as St. George's column has been revealed by excavations. Those who followed the custom did not know why it was done, and had never heard a satisfactory explanation from their ancestors. The excavations show that the mosque was built by victorious Turks on the site of an ancient Christian monastery dedicated to St. George. It is evident that had even after their monastery had been removed the defeated Serbs continued to place the lighted candles.

Chippendale Furniture

Thomas Chippendale was the son of a wood carver of Worcester, England. The era in which this great cabinet maker did his best work was from 1735 to 1768. His furniture shop and show rooms were visited by royalty, and were located in St. Martin's lane, the Strand, London.

HITLER ORDERS

where he conferred with Hitler. But after when reporters tried to see him at his home, Hitler's Schutzstaffel, or special guards, interfered.

VON PAPAN TO RESIGN

No one can explain how Von Papan can continue in a government which raided his home, shot his adjutant, Herbert Von Bose, six times and then announced that the man had committed suicide. Von Papan is expected to resign.

One of the many men of great prominence in the Reich whose fate is still to be determined is Gottfried Treviranus, a former cabinet minister. He escaped General Kurt Von Schleicher's fate ("shot while resisting arrest") by jumping in his automobile and driving off in a hail of bullets. It is understood he has since surrendered but it is not known whether or not he has been executed.

The residents of Lichterfelde, a Berlin suburb which contains a government military academy, reported periodic rattling of rifle fire was heard from the academy all day long yesterday.

They shudderingly concluded that more men were continually going before Hitler's firing squads. But one report from official sources had it that there would be no more lists of persons executed issued.

A list had been promised, not of all those executed, but of "the prominent persons put to death," to quote the laive wording of the official pronouncement.

This statement led again to reports that the death list would top 500 as only the deaths of those of great prominence were being reported.

In a country of 65,000,000 people in which all domestic news services have been ordered to stop gathering and reporting news and foreign correspondents are not encouraged or aided in so doing, it is impossible to tabulate how many widows and orphans have been made.

There are no funerals. Wives have not even been allowed to view the bodies of their missing husbands. The city seethed with reports on the identities of the latest victims of Hitler's firing squads. It was reliably reported that they included Gregor Von Strasser, wealthy industrialist; Captain Arnold Rechberg, Baron Von Alvensleben, Baron Von Gleichen, who headed the Herron Club and Von Tschirsky. The last four were all personal friends of Von Papan.

There were reports that one of the many plots which Hitler moved against at the same time, and one of the latter group to bring Bavaria, the Palatinate and other predominately Catholic German states into a loose federation with Austria which again should have a Hapsburg on the throne, presumably, Archduke Otto, son of the Empress Zita.

The plan amounted to a romantic idea for the restoration of the Holy Roman Empire.

OPEN STOUTSVILLE MEETING JULY 24

Many Outstanding Ministers To Appear on Program Through Aug. 5.

The seventeenth annual United Brethren Camp meeting of Stoutsville will begin July 24 and end Sunday August 5, 1934, it was announced today.

The famous nationally known Oliver E. Williams Evangelistic party will be in charge of the camp. The party is comprised of Oliver E. Williams, M. A., D. D., Ph. D., a nationally known preacher for his prophetic message; Mrs. Angie Maring Williams, composer and author of many religious hymns, choruses, and music; Prof. Roy MacMurray, known as the "Musical Wizard" because of the fourteen instruments he plays, and known as the "Best Trumpeter in America."

Many outstanding ministers will appear on the program from time to time. The camp is located in a beautiful grove at the edge of Stoutsville and is reached from Route 22.

A number of local persons have been in attendance at the camp, some of them tenting on the grounds for the entire twelve days. The committee reports that more tents are rented this year and more are being asked for than any other year in the history of the organization. Rev. B. C. Rife, of Jackson, is president of the organization and Rev. Spurgeon Metzler, of this city, is the secretary.

LOCAL CADDIES WIN FROM CHILLICOTHE

The boys will go to Chillicothe for a return match Friday. A district caddy tournament is also being arranged.

Local scorers in Monday's 18-hole game included Bob Friece, 3 points; John Jenkins, Joe Jenkins, and Eldon Hill, 2; Charles Styers, 1-1-2 and Dick Melson, 1. Joe Jenkins shot a low score of 79.

A frog does not open its mouth during the ordinary course of its singing, but it can scream with its wide mouth open when occasion demands. A frog being grasped by a large snake has been observed to do this most piteously, making a startling noise.

When the last rocket has spangled the evening sky, there should be only one thing to ask—a smooth-running motor to carry you swiftly and silently home.

You can guarantee yourself that vital bit of contentment by starting the day with a brimming tankful of Sohio X-70—Ohio's most popular motor fuel.

It is a strong statement to say, "For a 'regular' gas, you just can't beat X-70." But it is a fact proved by 80,000 gasoline tests a year in Sohio laboratories. The motoring public has confirmed our findings, for surveys show X-70 to be more popular than the next five brands of gasoline combined!

Unlucky Exceed the Lucky

THOUGH there is now about $9,000,000,000 worth of gold in the possession of civilized man, it is generally accepted as a fact that the gold that has been taken from the earth is not worth what has been spent in its pursuit.

Many men have devoted lifetimes to searching for "pay dirt," but how many fortunes can be traced back to the lucky strike of some suffering prospector? Innumerable shafts have been sunk in lonesome mountainsides without finding yellow ore. He who wanders among the solitudes of the Rockies is quite likely to encounter the scars left on hillsides and in the gullies by prospectors who have worked claims that never produced.

Claims that proved bonanzas were few and far between. It was only the occasional strip of sand that yielded its yellow dust profitably, and in most cases even it was soon exhausted. On the whole, more has been spent in the quest of gold than was ever realized from it.

In this respect speculation and other forms of gambling are like prospecting for gold. The losses always exceed the winnings. Fabulous seem the winnings in the great lotteries of Europe, but the money that goes into them far exceeds that which comes out in prizes. Fortunes were made in the stock boom and for every fortune won many fortunes were lost.

How strange is man! He wouldn't steal a dime of your money, but brazenly robs you of a dollar's worth of time.

A Monocle! Fawncy!

VERILY Doug Fairbanks is a wonder man!

His world audience remembers his feats of physical skill and strength; how he single-handed slew his enemy hordes and bested countless villainous assailants with sword, whip and rope, or through sheer cunning and gymnastic ability.

Old and young have admired and envied this incessantly active and incredibly agile man, who was able to handle an endless variety of weapons and all of them with incomparable skill.

Neither is there an end to this man's cleverness. When he went to London and mastered the art of wearing a monocle he clinched the title of wonder man. And he accomplished that feat after the age when it is not hard to learn new tricks.

Britishers born to the custom and to the essential cheek and superciliousness must needs be schooled throughout the formative years in the gentle art of sporting a monocle, but along comes that vaulting virtuoso from Hollywood and picks it up over night.

Hats off to Doug, Sr., even though he does look better in the costume of a Spanish Don.

No party should remain in power over eight years. It takes too long to investigate the accumulated sin.

You can't tell when a depression is over except that nobody glares when you kick about the smoke nuisance.

You hear men say there's no use making it if the government takes it, but you never see them passing up a profit.

Happy thought. If the papers printed thrilling stuff about blood-thirsty cops, maybe the bandits would get scared, too.

Moral indignation is the feeling a statesman has when he discovers where the other party swept dirt under the rug.

'THE LONE WOLF'S SON'

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

SYNOPSIS

Aboard the S.S. "Navarre," bound for America, Michael Lanyard, reformed "Lone Wolf" of the crookdom, is reunited with his son whom he thought dead. Lanyard is disappointed to learn that the boy, traveling under the name "Maurice Parry," is a thief; but he hopes his son's interest in Fennio Crozier, lovely daughter of the wealthy Mrs. Fay Crozier, will prove a good influence. Maurice steals the famous Habsburg emeralds from Mrs. Crozier, substituting counterfeits. Lanyard retrieves the gems for Fay. In a bridge game, Lanyard exposes two gangsters, "Jack Knife" Anderson and "English Archie," for cheating his son. Detective Crane warns Lanyard against their revenge. Soon the emeralds are stolen again and Lanyard is suspected when he refuses to name the first thief. M. Plon, French detective, and Captain Pas-sal are confident of Lanyard's guilt when they find the jewels in the latter's trunk, only to learn that they are the counterfeits. Fay gallantly says that she gave the zircons (false gems) to Lanyard as souvenirs. Lanyard is puzzled, for he had returned these to Maurice, but he maintains a defiant attitude toward the officers. Just as the captain orders Lanyard confined in his cabin until he reveals the culprit's name, the pursuer appears with the genuine emeralds, which were carelessly wrapped and left on his desk with instructions that they be deposited in the safe for Mme. Crozier. To prove her faith in Lanyard, Fay asks him to re-wrap and return them to the pursuer. Embarrassed, the captain apologizes and withdraws with Plon. Despite the evidence, Lanyard cannot conceive of Maurice planting the zircons in his trunk. Fay learns from Fennio that Maurice is Lanyard's son. Father and son lunch together.

CHAPTER XV

"Mind telling what Fennio's mother has been getting at you about?" Maurice asked.

"Everything that I wasn't prepared to tell her about you, naturally. I had hoped to have this talk before we took the ship into our confidante, but you were too busy telling Fennio the first thing—"

"Sorry, sir. She had it out of me before I knew what she was after."

"Well, since the mischief's done—How did you account for your conspicuously easy circumstances of a young man without visible means of support?"

"I had to think quick, sir; and the first thing I thought of was probably as good a lie as any," the scamp laughed, "that after a life of many vicissitudes, I had struck it rich with a winning ticket in the Calcutta Sweepstakes. As a Londoner named Parry who pulled in a small fortune at the last drawing."

"And the name Parry; how did you explain that?"

"Oh, that! I told her it was the name of the old couple in Antwerp that adopted me."

"Unhappy boy, sir?"

"Too gifted a liar—marked as one predestined to become prematurely just the usual husband!"

"No fear!" Maurice had an arrogant laugh. "I'll never marry."

"Good news—for some young woman."

"Oh, I don't know!"

Lanyard was put to it to suppress an indulgent smile when he saw a flush accompany that flash. The boy was as vain as a pretty girl.

"You aren't seriously suggesting—are you, Maurice, that you think a woman ought to consider herself lucky if she woke up some fine morning to find she had married a thief?"

"See here, sir!"

But on that sharp beginning Maurice with an unmistakable effort rested while his flush deepened, his mouth grew taut, and temper played like summer lightning in the backs of his shadowed eyes.

"Something?" Lanyard nevertheless blandly prompted.

"I wish you wouldn't take that line with me." The boy's voice trembled. "It's meant a lot to me to find you—and in the position you've carved out for yourself, respected, admired, and so generally liked. I want to like you, too, and admire you, but I can't unless you'll let me respect you. All this is no good, sir, unless we're on the level with each other."

"But I am sure you are on the level with me, boy."

"You may be; I am. I don't pretend to be repentant or wanting to be reformed or anything else that's stupid. If I followed in your footsteps without knowing it, I guess it was in my blood. And anyway, I've made a go of it; I've done pretty well at the game, and I'm free to to order for Carl, deposed Emperor of Austria and King of Hungary, Carl had been obliged to sell the originals to find money for his war chest when he was planning that last putsch on Budapest; but there was the legend that no one could wear St. Stephen's Crown who had not in his keeping St. Stephen's seven emeralds; hence, these fakes to deceive his people. Well: all the world knows how that putsch failed and Carl was shipped off to die in Madiara. . . . How they came into your hands doesn't matter; enough that they have threatened this time to put a father and his long-lost son at loggerheads. Their tale is told."

The arm he drew back described a full sweep and shot a spray of green fire far out over the side.

confess I like it. And I don't admit for a minute I'm any worse than the people that pay me the living the world owes me. I don't rob the wage-earner—but the rich do, every last one of them, whose playthings I go after. There's hardly one I've robbed who came by his wealth by working for it; and if there ever was one, he was so well fixed he never missed the little I took from him."

"Yes, yes. All very interesting to you, no doubt, but to me far too old a story," Lanyard returned; "souvenir de ma jeunesse, I assure you. Everything you say I said in my time, before you were born. What of it? Is there a point?"

"Can you doubt it? It's fairly obvious, I should say, I'm not a hypocrite. I mean to say, I'm on the level with you. Why can't you be with me?"

At this Lanyard sat back and stared in wonder.

"We are at cross-purposes," he gravely announced. "It is evident that you think I have given you some cause for grievance; and I can honestly lay the same accusation against you. Perhaps we can get at it best if you will assist me at a simple rite."

"He thrust back his chair. 'It will only take a minute—there is plenty of time before the waiter brings the fillet. If you don't mind—'"

At the end of a blank instant the boy got up and followed out to the deck.

"There couldn't be a better time," Lanyard said, halting at the rail and glancing fore and aft at the ranks of empty deck-chairs, "with everybody at luncheon, for this solemn occasion. Did I tell you it was a burial at sea you were to witness?"

He brought up from a pocket a fistful of green stones. "Look your last on these gems of ill omen, my son. They have made mischief every time they have come to light since Korff of Geneva made them

The arm he drew back described a full sweep and shot a spray of green fire far out over the side.

"Now," he concluded to oddly puzzled eyes, "let us return to our luncheon and try to come to an understanding. I confess I shall be glad to know what the devil you thought to accomplish by your smuggling of those damned things into my luggage."

But if Maurice offered no more comment than a shrug at the question, he followed his father back to their table to put off his taciturnity as soon as their waiter was out of earshot.

"You are beyond any argument, the strangest man alive!" he passionately declared. "You sit there with the most sanctimonious air, as if you actually imagined that you had put me in the wrong somehow and were expecting to hear me apologize!"

"You don't think you ought to?" Lanyard asked in polite surprise.

"But you can't pretend not to know why I put the zircons in your trunk in place of the emeralds! I wanted you to know who had taken them, of course—that your secret was safe with me."

"Emeralds?" Lanyard blankly repeated. "Secret?"

"But you must remember telling me last night the emeralds had been turned over to the pursuer. Figure to yourself how I felt when I found them in your trunk! I don't know when anything has hurt me so, or upset me more. I was so proud of you—proud to think you were my father and had had the nerve to do what you thought was right and stick to it. I thought that was fine of you—and it was fine, I still think, as long as it lasted. I tell you, I was regularly heart-sick when I found you had lied about giving the emeralds back to Mme. Crozier—had been tempted beyond your strength and, knowing I would never split on you—"

Bunions Are Frequently Inherited

Some Authorities Are of This Opinion, Says Dr. Copeland

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

NOT SO long ago I wrote about corns. Since then I have received many requests for information concerning bunions. Corns and bunions are familiar afflictions of modern civilization.

It is probable that our forefathers rarely suffered from these annoying complaints. They had other and worse miseries to contend with, but foot trouble of this sort was not common.

Normally the joints of the foot as well as other joints of the body are surrounded by small sacs. These sacs contain "synovial fluid," which lubricates the joint. The sac which contains the fluid is called the "bursa."

It is very easy for a bursa to become inflamed. Pressure or irritation caused by the wearing of improperly fitted shoes, or from the lack of foot hygiene, often leads to bursitis or inflammation of the sac. When the sac swells the overlying skin becomes thickened and the big toe is forced inward. This produces the deformity called a bunion.

Other Causes Too
Contrary to the common belief, bunion, or "hallux valgus," as it is known medically, is not always the result of wearing improperly fitted shoes. The defect may be traced to some constitutional disorder, such as arthritis, gout, diabetes or rheumatism.

Occasionally the condition appears without any history of pressure or irritation, and in such cases it is believed by some to be inherited. I am not impressed by this theory. It will be found that a severe blow or injury, tight shoes and lack of foot hygiene are responsible for most cases of bunion.

If the defect is recognized in its early stages, cure can be accomplished by massage, the wearing of proper shoes, foot exercises, and the use of special foot baths. In most instances, unfortunately, the condition is neglected until severe damage has been done to the afflicted joint. In such cases, complete cure can be brought about only by a minor surgical operation.

Many persons resort to the use of bunion plasters. These are frequently beneficial and usually aid in the prevention of further irritation. They are of particular value in that they remove pressure from the sore or inflamed joint.

But it must be borne in mind that if the sufferer continues to wear tight and pointed shoes and neglects the hygiene of his feet, it is probable he will never be cured of the affliction.

Do not permit yourself to be the victim of fashion. Bear in mind that a shoe should be long and wide enough to permit free movement of the toes. Pointed shoes cramp the feet and should be avoided. The inner border of the shoe should fit snugly and firmly support the arch. The heel should be broad and low and certainly never higher than one to one and a quarter inches.

It is a good plan to change the shoes frequently. This is not an extravagant procedure for your shoes will last longer. Certainly your feet will be greatly benefited by this simple practice.

AT THE CLIFTONA
The old South and one of its most beautiful mansions was recreated for scenes in Paramount's presentation of Augustus Thomas' famous play, "The Witching Hour," coming on Wednesday and Thursday to the Cliftona Theatre.

The play, a famous romance, tells of the memory of a beautiful love and how it returns to save the romance of a boy and a girl of a new generation. Featured in the cast of the picture are Sir Guy Standing, John Halliday, Judith Allen, Tom Brown, Gertrude Michael and William Frawley.

Henry Hathaway directed. It tells the story of a boy, Clay Thorne, played by Tom Brown and his love for Nancy Brookfield, played by Judith Allen. Thorne has a peculiar complex, an aversion to cat's-eyes a phobia that drives him to an emotional and mental hysteria. While under a hypnotic influence induced by one of these semi-precious jewels, he commits a fantastic crime, without being conscious of what has happened.

When washing glassware do not put in hot water bottom first as it may crack from sudden expansion. Each delicate glass can be safely washed in very hot water if slipped in edgewise.

Noted Magician Answers First Questions for Our Readers

Several letters from Herald readers greeted Ramon this morning. Ramon's big mystery show opens a four day engagement at the Cliftona Theatre Wednesday, July 4th. In addition to answering questions in the Herald Ramon also gives a brief demonstration of the new science of psychometry at each performance at the theater.

Any Herald reader may ask Ramon any question regarding love affairs, business affairs, changes, journeys, real estate, health, in fact, any question at all so long as you sign your full name and address and send it to Ramon in care of the Herald. Only your initials will be used in the published answer. Psychometry is only a small part of the big show, however, as he carries a carload of scenery and effects and a large company. Be sure and get your question in early so that you will be sure of getting your answer. Following is the first group of questions and answers:

W. S.—I have lost a bunch of keys. Where can I find them?

Ans.—Your keys are on the ledge of the window in your garage, right where you left them.

G. A.—Who and when am I going to marry?

Ans.—You will marry George W. during the latter part of September.

J. T.—What is wrong with my health? Do I need an operation?

Ans.—You need immediate medical attention for your kidneys.

but not an operation.

F. B.—When will my father sell his car and how much will he get for it?

Ans.—Your father will sell his car day after tomorrow for exactly $300.00 to the man who wanted to buy it about ten days ago.

X. Mrs. K. M.—Will our next child be a boy or a girl?

Ans.—A girl, about the 25 of October.

H. W.—I am going with two boys. Which cares for me the most?

Ans.—Frank is the most sincere in his avowed love for you. You will not marry either one of these boys, however, but James D. whom you met about two months ago.

That is all of the questions and answers for today. Another group will appear in Thursday's edition of the Herald. If you have not already sent in a question do so at once. Sign your full name and address and send it to Ramon in care of the Herald. Only your initials will appear in the answer.

New Deal Friends Worried by President's Distant Vacation Now

WASHINGTON — Roosevelt's departure South at this particular moment caused a lot of sub rosa concern in various high places.

Basis for the concern, briefly, was this: The 73rd Congress heaped on the head of one man more power than ever before given to a President of the United States. Upon the exercise of that power will depend the immediate future of the country.

With dozens of major bills just passed, with several important commissions about to function, some of Roosevelt's best friends felt he had chosen the wrong time for so distant a holiday.

Whether or not they are right, it remains a fact that the next month is going to be a crucial one in Washington. Here are some reasons why:

LABOR—Strikes and threats of strikes have been popping in every part of the country. The still unsettled steel strike, the Pacific Coast longshoremen's difficulties, the Milwaukee street railways walkout, have kept a constant stream of labor disputes knocking at Roosevelt's door. The Wagner Labor Dispute Bill, passed to settle these, has barely begun to function. It will miss the guiding hand of the man in the White House.

NRA—The nest of the Blue Eagle, as Roosevelt departed south, was messier than ever before in its hectic and frequently messy life. General Johnson, his trigger-finger always nervous, is expected to leave the White House in a few days.

HOUSING—The big drive to take up the mid-summer slack, to help reduce Federal Relief rolls through the gigantic slum-clearance, housing program is just being launched. Upon it depends construction prosperity next year.

LOANS TO INDUSTRY—The R. F. C. has just received from Congress the right to put the government further into business by lending money to industry. This new start on the old, handout game has just begun.

TARIFF—The President has just received unprecedented powers to negotiate trade treaties changing tariff rates without ratification by Congress. Scores of nations and several hundred lobbyists have been hounding the State Department to begin.

STOCK MARKET—For the first time in history the Government will attempt to make Wall Street walk the straight and narrow. The commission faced with this task is still in its infancy.

Communications—Another commission to control telephones, telegrams and radio also for the first time in history, has not even reached spilloons and coat hangers.

What accentuates Roosevelt's absence is the fact that he is the most centralized Administration in years. Some of his cabinet officers will scarcely hire an office boy without trotting over to ask the man in the White House.

So the summer may be hot, hectic and at times delirious. The component parts of the official family will step on each other's toes. Fireworks should be brilliant feuds and bitters.

National Theatre

No matter what happens this fall, it looks as if Eddie Dowling, close comedian-friend of the President, would be in the very thick of the show business.

FAIRFIELD-CO MAN TO FINISH AAA PROGRAM

Robert Blosser of Bremen, University Graduate, to Supervise Program

STARTS AT ONCE
More Than $500,000 to be Paid County Farmers

Robert Blosser of Bremen, Fairfield-co., has been named temporary county agriculture agent for Pickaway-co. it was announced today.

He will assist in the completion of the corn-hog adjustment program which was left unfinished by the resignation of Guy Dowdy, who is now connected with the Agriculture Adjustment Administration in Columbus.

A graduate of the Class of 1931 at Ohio State University, Mr. Blosser comes here highly recommended. For the past five months he has been working in the office of Fairfield-co. agriculture agent H. F. Thayer, assisting in the corn-hog and wheat adjustment programs.

He has also been leader of the Bremen Livestock 4-H club and lecturer of the Rushcreek Grange during the past year.

H. C. Ramsower, chairman of the Ohio corn-hog production control committee, announced today that cash payments under the corn-hog program will be paid exactly in the manner and in the amounts named in the contracts signed by farmers in Pickaway-co.

This statement refutes the current rumor in some localities that "the government will settle for 40 cents on the dollar."

The contracts, it was explained, call for three separate benefit payments to each producer who signs and fulfills his contract. The first is made as soon as the contracts are received and approved by the secretary of agriculture. Such payments are now being distributed to farmers in counties where the program is further advanced.

The total of the first payments in Pickaway-co. will be $280,823. The second payment will be made in November or December, and the third, in February, 1935. Total of the three payments to local farmers will exceed $533,583. Payments to Ohio farmers will exceed $17,000,000.

MARIE DRESSLER CLINGING TO LIFE

"Grand Old Troupers" Takes Solid Food For First Time Yesterday.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 3.—The dawn of another day saw Marie Dressler, screen idol of thousands of men and women in all walks of life, continuing to amaze her physicians by the remarkable tenacity with which she holds to life and even gains in strength.

Shortly after midnight Dr. F. R. Nuzum issued a bulletin in which he described the condition of the woman who won fame on the stage and then came back to even greater triumph on the screen, as "unchanged."

Miss Dressler's temperature at that time was recorded as 100.6 degrees, the same as it had been during practically all of yesterday.

The greatest step forward in Miss Dressler's battle to cheat death was the fact that yesterday, for the first time in more than 10 days, she was able to take solid nourishment and retain it.

GLOUCESTER, O., July 3.—Mrs. Fred Householder, 32, was electrocuted last night while ironing overalls for her husband in the basement of their home. Her feet were wet from sprinkling the lawn a few moments before and when the short circuit occurred she was grounded so that the electricity killed her.

COUNTY 'DADS' THROW RELIEF BACK TO STATE

"Next Move Up to Relief Commission," Hay Says Monday

AID STOPPED
No Action on Petitions Presented Week Ago

Pickaway-co.'s relief controversy was thrown back into the lap of the state relief commission today, with the announcement by the county commissioners that "any further action in the matter would have to be taken by the commission."

The commissioners, Monday, failed to take any action on the petitions presented a week ago by Edward Peters, N. Court-st., requesting them "to cooperate with the state and federal governments so that aid would continue to come to Pickaway-co."

HAVE COMPLIED?
"We have complied with every order of the state relief commission," John W. Hay, president of the board, said today. "We were told that the funds which we were charged with spending illegally had to be returned to the proper fund. This has been done. We were also told that relief bills would have to be approved by the relief commission and that we would have to follow the rules and regulations of the FERA and state relief commission. We are willing to do this," he declared.

Hay pointed out, however, that the commissioners would not allow the county relief director, appointed by the commission, to administer county outside relief activities. Outside relief includes all relief outside of the county infirmary.

FOOD TO CONTINUE
Adjutant General Henderson said in Columbus yesterday that the county might continue to participate in the surplus food distribution, although the commissioners would have to pay for the transportation of the food from Columbus.

It is believed that the commissioners would go to Columbus and confer with Major E. O. Braught, executive director of the commission, if they received an official invitation. In a statement to the Herald last week, Braught issued an invitation for the commissioners to meet with the relief commission, but they refused to recognize it as official.

In the meantime, the commissioners will be forced to handle all relief activities and finish the works projects started under the FERA program.

Mr. Dawson was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Ralph Lutz, E. Mill-st.

PAYS $25 FINE

He paid the fine and costs and was released. Game Protector Clarence Francis arrested him.

INDEPENDENCE DAY (EDITORIAL)

On the fourth day of every July, the American people in a more or less fervent manner, celebrate the birthday of a nation. It is a day of memories and should be. Our fathers gave us a priceless form of government, and the long colonial striving against usurpation and tyranny helped our Jeffersons, John Adamases and Lees and others to formulate the principles of pure republicanism which we boast of possessing today.

Let the eagle scream! Let oratory be broadcasted over the land! Let the red rockets glare and the bursting cracker boom! We have grown on and older until today we are 158 years old, a glorious union, one and indivisible.

Only once in the history of this union have we had revolution. It was not an oppressed people revolting against dictatorship or a disabled government, but sectionalism exerting its so-called rights and privileges. That revolt was stamped out on the insistence of President Lincoln, now revered as one of the greatest Americans of all time.

We should rejoice that we are able to celebrate Independence Day every day of our lives. Our desires to talk are not silenced by a uniformed storm-trooper in the background. We still enjoy the right to worship as we wish and the other eight guarantees in the Bill of Rights of our constitution.

Observation of Independence Day in America is something satisfying—an inward feeling that we do have "a government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

And the most satisfying feature of this 158-year-old government is that even though it allows every one of its citizens to be independent, when the call for action comes, we push forward in a united front.

We are glad that we can truthfully say that we're celebrating Independence Day tomorrow.

Mr. Groom, who has been a commercial salesman with headquarters in Erie, Pa., has been transferred to Rochester, N. Y., in charge of the same branch of service from the Rochester store.

SHOWERS MAY MAR FOURTH

No Celebration of Any Kind Planned in City For Wednesday.

ASHVILLE SCENE
Autoists Are Asked To Use Precautions.

With the holiday spirit undampened by predictions of probable thunderstorms tomorrow, Ohio prepared today to celebrate, with community celebrations, athletic events, and outings, another Independence Day.

No celebration of any kind was planned in Circleville, but thousands are expected to throng to Ashville for that village's sixth annual community day.

Chillicothe, Lancaster, Washington C. H., and other neighboring cities were also planning extensive celebrations.

Extensive plans have been made in virtually every community in the state for holiday celebrations. With temperatures today ranging about seven or eight degrees higher than yesterday, the United States weather bureau at Columbus issued a forecast of unsettled weather tomorrow. Showers and cooler weather are predicted for tonight in the north portion of the state, with probable showers and temperatures slightly below the 90-degree mark generally in the state tomorrow.

Hoping to forestall the usual high holiday accident toll in the state, Ohio officials urged all residents of the state to exercise unusual precautions in their holiday merry-making.

Highway Director O. W. Merrell and Col. Lynn Black, superintendent of the state highway patrol, called upon all drivers in the state to make the "crowded highways safe" tomorrow.

While cleaning the floors in the plant, some lye, which he was using, flew up in his face, burning both eyes. His face was also burned.

DOCTORS WARN OF FIRE BURNS

Several Local Youths Receive Burns In Fireworks Explosions; Bowsher Hurt.

With several pre-Fourth of July accidents already reported, Circleville physicians warned today that any wounds suffered through the explosion of fireworks should be dressed immediately to prevent infection and blood poisoning.

Two York-st. youths were also burned Monday when fireworks exploded in their hands. The aids were Charles Ankrom and a boy named Brown. Dr. E. R. Austin treated their burns.

Several other minor cases were also reported to local doctors, but names of the persons could not be learned.

Mayor W. B. Cady warned today that any persons who use fireworks carelessly are subject to a fine of $50 under provisions of a city ordinance. "We do not oppose the use of fireworks, but when exploded indiscriminately and without regard to the safety of other persons, the offenders will be prosecuted," he said.

CRISIS NEAR

Some Say Over 500 Killed Over Week-end

BERLIN, July 3.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler closed the books today on the "rebellion" which he crushed Saturday with an iron hand.

The Chancellor ordered cessation of all further repressions against those who opposed his rule. He said, "will be limited over to the courts for trial."

"Whoever takes further action on his own account, even on best intentions," the Chancellor said, "will be limited over to the courts for trial."

More executions are expected, though from reports of police residing near the Lichterfelde Military Academy, the firing squad worked all day yesterday. The number of dead is unknown. The government has only announced 11 deaths. Reports from conservative sources put the number between 200 and 500.

McClaren Wins Monday's Game

The important games of the second half is scheduled for Monday night, July 2, when the McClaren team will play the Purina Chows. The latter was runner-up to the McClaren team in the first half. An interesting game is expected.

Last night, the Purina Chows defeated the McClaren team 7 to 3, with Pug Fowler pitching a good game for the former.

The lineup included—Chows: Haskell, cf; Dumm, 2b; Roby, ss; Greeno, 3b; Zeller, 1b; Fowler, p; Bliss, c; Accord, lf; and Robinson, rf.

McClaren: Smalley, ss; Miller, 1b; Doney, 3b; Hena, lf; L. Ferguson, cf; Hill, 2b; Buskirk, p; D. Ferguson, rf; and Valentine, c.

It was announced today that the Wednesday game between the Circle City Dairy and Given Oils will be played at the regular time in the evening instead of in the afternoon.

Eshelman Feeds have two important games to play this week, on Thursday evening they tangle with the Container Corporation, first half winner, and on Friday they play off last Thursday's tie game with the Given Oils. Both are expected to be interesting contests. Eddie Callihan will be forced to pitch two grueling games in succession and this is no fun for any pitcher.

The word "comet" comes from the Greek "kometes," which literally means long-haired, and refers to the beard or tail which accompanies heavenly bodies.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

WHAT OF MONEY?

THERE IS QUITE A LOT of talk about what will be done with the money left at the end of the year from the collections at the ball games—it was thought for a while that bleachers could be constructed even during this season with the cash, but there hasn't been enough of it. According to a rule adopted by the managers of the teams before the season started the money would be divided among the four teams winning in an elimination series at the end of the second half.

It is believed now that a majority of managers would vote to rescind that ruling and put all the money into a purse which could be augmented by contributions for a big banquet for all players, backers, managers and umpires at the close of the season—This was done in 1929 at the Lutheran parish house and the meeting was a great success—it is possible such action will be taken although it can be done only on a vote of all the managers.

TALKING CAGE LEAGUE

IT'S A LONG WAY OFF BUT there is already talk about a Circleville basketball league this winter with games to be played in the Circleville Athletic club gymnasium—it is believed several of the industrial plants and business houses now supporting recreational ball teams could be interested in such a move—it would be a big help to sports activities in the city and should prove beneficial to the Athletic club if operated in the right manner—it is somewhat doubtful whether the high school will seek the Club gym since last year was not a successful one either financially or in any other way.

STRANGE DISEASE

dren. They were mystified, unable to name or diagnose the malady. That it was some form of paralysis was admitted but the cause still remains locked up in the twisted and suffering bodies of the brothers.

Glen and John have never gone to school. The disease struck them down before that time, as it did their seven kin who never passed the forbidden age of 18 years.

The boys are now 16 and 17. They know that their days are numbered but they never complain. Nor does their mother, Mrs. George Dietrich.

"But I wish I knew what is wrong with my boys," she said. "Samuel died two years ago. Now Glen and John will die soon. All I wish for now is that they be happy before they go."

"Pictures, post cards and letters please them more than anything else. They never get tired of looking at picture postcards. That is the only life, the only chance they have to see, in the outside world."

Ancient Secret Revealed

Why Christian Serbs in the Petch district of Yugoslavia have for centuries placed lighted candles in the cemeteries of an old Moslem mosque, known as St. George's columns has been revealed by excavations. Those who followed the custom did not know why it was done, and had never heard a satisfactory explanation from their ancestors. The excavations show that the mosque was built by victorious Turks on the site of an ancient Christian monastery dedicated to St. George. It is evident that even after their monastery had been removed the defeated Serbs continued to place the lighted candles.

Chippendale Furniture

Thomas Chippendale was the son of a wood carver of Worcester, England. The era in which this great cabinet maker did his best work was from 1735 to 1768. His furniture shop and show rooms were visited by royalty, and were located in St. Martin's lane, the Strand, London.

HITLER ORDERS OPEN STOUTSVILLE MEETING JULY 24

where he conferred with Hitler. But after when reporters tried to see him at his home, Hitler's Schutzstaffel, or special guards, interfered.

VON PAPPEN TO RESIGN

No one can explain how Von Pappen can continue in a government which raided his home, shot his adjutant, Herbert von Euse, six times and then announced that the man had committed suicide. Von Pappen is expected to resign.

One of the many men of great prominence in the Reich whose fate is still to be determined is Gottfried Treviranus, a former cabinet minister. He escaped General Kurt von Schleicher's fate ("shot while resisting arrest") by jumping in his automobile and driving off in a hail of bullets. It is understood he has since surrendered but it is not known whether or not he has been executed.

The residents of Lichterfelde, a Berlin suburb which contains a government military academy, reported periodic rattling of rifle fire was heard from the academy all day long yesterday.

They shudderingly concluded that more men were continually going before Hitler's firing squads. But one report from official sources had it that there would be no more lists of persons executed issued.

A list had been promised, not of all those executed, but of "the prominent persons put to death," to quote the laive wording of the official pronouncement.

This statement led again to reports that the death list would top 500 as only the deaths of those of great prominence were being reported.

In a country of 65,000,000 people in which all domestic news services have been ordered to stop gathering and reporting news and foreign correspondents are not encouraged or aided in so doing, it is impossible to tabulate how many widows and orphans have been made.

There are no funerals. Wives have not even been allowed to view the bodies of their missing husbands.

The city seethed with reports on the identities of the latest victims of Hitler's firing squads. It was reliably reported that they included Gregor Von Strasser, wealthy industrialist; Captain Arnold Rechberg, Baron Von Alvensleben, Baron Von Gleichen, who headed the Heron Club and Von Tschirsky. The last four were all personal friends of Von Pappen.

There were reports that one of the many plots which Hitler moved against at the same time, and one of the latter group to bring Bavaria, the Palatinate and other predominately Catholic German states into a loose federation with Austria which again should have a Hapsburg on the throne, presumably, Archduke Otto, son of the Empress Zita.

The plan amounted to a romantic idea for the restoration of the Holy Roman Empire.

CANTON.—Two orders, one for $500,000 for 500 voting machines to be used in Philadelphia, have been received by a manufacturing company here. The second order for 10,000 metal lockers to be used in the New Lane Technical High School in Chicago.

Brown, of Columbus, chief of the state old age pension bureau, will be the guest of honor when Lone Crag Aerie 224, Fraternal Order of Eagles, observes "Old Age Pension Sunday," July 8. Many Outstanding Ministers To Appear on Program Through Aug. 5.

The seventeenth annual United Brethren Camp meeting of Stoutsville will begin July 24 and end Sunday August 5, 1934, it was announced today.

The famous nationally known Oliver E. Williams Evangelistic party will be in charge of the camp. The party is comprised of Oliver E. Williams, M. A., D. D., Ph. D., a nationally known preacher for his prophetic message; Mrs. Angie Maring Williams, composer and author of many religious hymns, choruses, and music; Prof. Roy MacMurray, known as the "Musical Wizard" because of the fourteen instruments he plays, and known as the "Best Trumpeter in America."

Many outstanding ministers will appear on the program from time to time. The camp is located in a beautiful grove at the edge of Stoutsville and is reached from Route 22.

A number of local persons have been in attendance at the camp, some of them tenting on the grounds for the entire twelve days. The committee reports that more tents are being asked for than any other year in the history of the organization. Rev. B. C. Rife, of Jackson, is president of the organization and Rev. Spurgeon Metzler, of this city, is the secretary.

Frog Can Scream

A frog does not open its mouth during the ordinary course of its singing, but it can scream with its wide mouth open when occasion demands. A frog being grasped by a large snake has been observed to do this most piteously, making a startling noise.

when you come to the end of a perfect 4th

When the last rocket has spangled the evening sky, there should be only one thing to ask—a smooth-running motor to carry you swiftly and silently home.

You can guarantee yourself that vital bit of contentment by starting the day with a brimming tankful of Sohio X-70—Ohio's most popular motor fuel.

It is a strong statement to say, "For a regular" gas, you just can't beat X-70." But it is a fact proved by 80,000 gasoline tests a year in Sohio laboratories. The motoring public has confirmed our findings, for surveys show X-70 to be more popular than the next five brands of gasoline combined!
